

(since this is delivery i would advise you to keep the clicking to a minimum especially when it comes to the get help steps. there is a glitch from ubereats that will increase your risk level from a looped process which i will go over)

(delivery refunded orders also do not affect the driver nor restaurant unlike doordash)

Same proxy gologin set up using vcc no need to jig addy

Order food as normal (i would not use a promo. this will brick addy for 2 weeks if used incorrectly. if your addy gets bricked, there are a few bypasses you can do to still have food delivered to whatever bricked address)

Btw tip is not refunded so tip how much you desire

When the food arrives go to view receipt <<< get help <<< past order <<< order never arrived <<< next

Now you should be on a screen where it shows a picture where ur food was left. If you are on this picture wait on that screen for 10+ minutes (30+ minutes is best option) and then scroll down and press i still dont see it. It should take you to a refund screen where you will press that you want the refund to your original payment method 3-5 business days.

or

Now you will be on a screen saying to chat with agent. Chat with agent and tell them u never received the food. If they are trippin by saying that you are not eligible, keep pressing them. Your risk level will determine how long it takes to get your refund through chat. I had a high risk level one time because I messed up a few things and it took me 2+ hours to get the refund. You can cuss and make smart ass remarks btw. They dont give a shit about you anyway. Cus at the end of the day most of the time they try to get away with it by not giving you the refund even if your risk level is only slightly higher than normal.

or

You will be taken to a screen where it says that you are not eligible for a refund. There will be a contact support button which you will press. Now this is the important part. Sometimes the system glitches and brings you back to the get help home page instead of the chat. When this happens I want you to press home and go to another order issue to access the chat where you will say you never received the order. If you were to continue and press the order never arrived option again, you would get put in a loop never being able to access the chat while your risk level increases. It will then say youve used their automated system too many times. Im 90% sure that when they say your account has a high number of adjustments this is what they mean. You clicked to many different options therefore meaning your risk level is high.

or

You will be on a screen where it says to contact the carrier. Just continue. It'll say you are connecting to them. Press done and then it'll say is there anything else they can help you with. Press yes and go through the order never arrived process again. Just be careful of the loop if it doesn't take you to the chat. The glitch usually doesn't happen though when you get this.

Congrats you got the refund. You can check the past orders saying $0. When it says that you're in the clear and the refunded order is complete.

Precautions:

When you get any errors when placing, it means you messed up and have to restart the process. Just hope your address didn't get banned for 2 weeks.

When they tell you that they are transferring you to their email team. End the chat asap as this will transfer you to a 6-12 hour chat. This basically means they put your ass to the side. They take roughly 24-48 hours for the most part too. Past 48 hours though is when your chances of getting that refund go down. Another thing is that when you access the chat, go back to postmates.com and go to help to access the chat again. You need to do this to be able to see their messages. From there you will be able to and have to keep reloading just to see their messages. It's annoying but just make sure to not get the 6-12 hour chat. And know that you can also get a 6-12 hour chat again in postmates.com. So make sure that doesn't happen or else you can just wait for their response or wait 24+ hours to age the account to lower the risk level. I've never gotten to this part but when you aged the account by 24+ hours. Go to help past order then order never arrived. Hope to see that refund screen. If you don't see it, you have to chat through those 6-12 hour chats. If you're at this step, all I have to say is good luck in getting that refund lol.

Instead of using temporary mail, I would create a random Microsoft account while taking a picture of the Outlook or Hotmail email and password just to make sure you still have access to that UberEats account even when your GoLogin trial ends. Just make sure everything is different and untraceable (mainly email and name). I mention all of these precautions in the pickup method.

Be mindful that a slightly high risk level matters way more for the delivery method than the pickup method. So make sure you do everything correctly once. Every little thing can cause your risk level to increase.

Do not give the UberEats links to customers. It will capture their IP therefore increasing risk level and may also show that the order was refunded. They may be able to figure out the method from that. But to give them a link there is a bypass.

When you get a pin, the best thing to do is cancel the order asap and starting over. If your proxy is slow dont even try doing that cus itll be too late plus your risk level will go up a tiny but when trying to do the process. There are other bypasses as well because from my experience the pin 50% of the time fucks me over making it a hassle to get my refund.

Would do maximum 3 delivery orders a day for an address and minimum 3-4 hours in between orders for that same address.

Instead of pressing help as soon as the order completes, always go to view receipt then get help just so the order is already linked to your issue and so that it doesnt glitch. Ubereats has one of the glitchiest and crappiest fucking security systems. Your risk level will go up from clicking and reloading any help pages even if it means that you needed to because their bitch ass site was glitched. It is an unreliable fuck ass system yet all the workers rely and slave to it.

Bypasses:

Google bypass - (this bypass doesnt work for some people. mainly works with virtual debit cards) When you get any sort of error when placing, you can try bypassing by changing payment method to google pay. Choose that payment method and then continue with it. Dont place the order with it. Change back to the payment method you were using and then try placing again with your payment method. Some people will have success and some wont.

Sometimes they place you into a 6-12 hour chat. When this happens go to postmates and login. Go to help and choose an option that takes you to chat because I forget which one. Now you can chat again for the refund. Also be mindful that clicking too many options will increase risk level some more. But you cant go to past orders because it wont show your orders.

To give a customer a link, all you have to do is change the link to postmates. So backspace ubereats and put postmates. Now you can give the link.

If youre addy is banned for 2 weeks, there are a few bypasses. You will be using a nearby address (dont use any addresses that are super super close like a nextdoor neighbor or a house you can see across from you). You can pick up from that address and tell them to meet outside or tell them in the delivery instructions that you put the wrong address. You can text them as well since some drivers dont even look at the delivery instructions until they arrive at the address you put. But the last option is to change the address right away by pressing help ongoing order and change delivery address. If it says place is too far and it doesnt allow to change the address, then you have to do one of the two other options.

For the pin, you can change your address to someone elses and then back to yours or you can come up with an excuse that you dont have the pin when you talk to them in person because theyre still able to complete it without the pin. You can say that your friend placed the order for you and that he never gave you a pin to tell the driver.

Want to get refunded for tips? Then do priority delivery. That money goes to the driver while also being able to get refunded.